

New Jersey Law Librarians Association
November Meeting & Luncheon

Strategic Advocacy
NJLLA & AALL: The Power of Many

Monday, November 15, 2010

Mary Alice Baish, Director of Government Affairs for the American Association of Law Libraries will discuss how strategic advocacy by networks of individuals and chapters demonstrates that the whole is always greater than the sum of its parts. Given the present economic conditions, this is vital to the survival of libraries. Mary Alice will address AALL's top policy priorities, the importance of developing networks of law librarians for effective advocacy, specific tools for disseminating information on key issues and how to create and enhance advocacy/government relations committees at the chapter level. In addition, she will encourage NJLLA to become actively involved in the NJ state inventory.
