

Princeton-Trenton Chapter AND New Jersey Chapter “Explore the Internet of Things”

Speaker: Projit Aon

Senior Manager of Product Management & Development
In Verizon’s Global Product and Services

Projit Aon leads product management for the Connectivity Management Group of ThingSpace IoT Platform. He previously led product management for the Machine to Machine Management Center. He launched a series of network technologies, services and tools that address a large part of the IoT connectivity management market. His career spans over 19 years in the technology and telecommunications industries.

Projit has an MBA from Columbia Business School, a Master of Engineering from Widener University and a Bachelor of Engineering from Manipal Institute of Technology in India.

In his presentation, Projit will cover an overview of IoT, why IoT is important to us as consumers and why/how IoT is important for us to understand as Information Professionals. He will provide resources to follow to learn more.

DIRECTIONS:

The Rutgers Club is now located on the Livingston Campus in Piscataway, not on College Avenue, and not near the Rutgers Inn and Conference Center. . The most direct route is from Route 18, toward Rutgers Athletic Center (RAC). Google maps link: <https://rumaps.rutgers.edu/campus/livingston>

You can also use the address of the James Carr Library (formerly Kilmer Library) in a GPS since it is closest to the parking. The Library address is 75 Avenue E, Piscataway, NJ 08854-8040.

Parking: Park in any visitor spot in lot 101, off of Avenue E. This lot is located behind the James Carr Library. Carr is a dark brown building. Visitor parking is in the first two rows closest to the library. Follow the path past the front of the library and follow signs to The Rutgers Club from there.
